The 'Passions of Youth' Project is pleased to invite you to the premier of a short film, 'To Be Continued', made by students at FC United Academy, and a showing of 'A Hundred Years and Still Fighting', made by young boxers from Moston and Collyhurst Lads' Club.

Join us for the screening of this new and exciting work, which includes a presentation of certificates to the young men who have participated the project to celebrate the work that they have completed.

'Passions of Youth' is a community project based in Manchester and Salford in which working-class young men in their teens have worked with historians, youth and community workers and film-makers to acquire new skills in historical research, oral history techniques and film-making. This celebration event is about the stories and images they have created about the history of their leisure pastimes and what these pastimes mean to them.

The groups which took part were FC United, Collyhurst & Moston Lads Club, Salford Youth Hub, and a Basketball team at The Factory Youth Zone.

The project has been funded by the Arts and Humanities Research Council and Manchester Metropolitan University.

Refreshments will be provided.
